MANY HONORS CAME TO LOCAL HIGH SCHOOL

leisure the recreation of body, mind, and spirit, and the enrichment and enlargement of his personality; (6) ethical character which means developing personal responsibilities, initiative, and above all the spirit of service and the principles of democracy; (7) vocation as it is going to be necessary for everyone to learn a livelihood.

The degrees to which these seven cardinal principles have been accomplished at Appomattox High School are partially exemplified in the honors which have been bestowed upon the school either as groups or individuals. Appomattox High School has had its share of honors in district and state competition this year, which speaks well for the administration, the faculty and the students. The following is a brief summary of the awards and honors received during the school year.

Laura E. Carson received a certificate of merit as a result of her outstanding performance in the 1957-58 National Merit Scholarship Program. She is among 7,300 finalists in this competition, which began last October with the testing of 256,000 of the nation's most able high school seniors.

As an outgrowth of instruction in the Virginia and United States History Class, Peyton Abbitt developed an oration on the Constitution of the United States. She entered the Oratorical Contest sponsored by the American Legion, in which she won the semi-finals, the district, the zone, and placed 2nd in the state. Mrs. Gertrude Morris, teacher, was advisor for this contest and also speach coach.

The Appomattox High School Band has progressed in three years to grade III music. The highest music offered by the State Board of Education for high school bands is grade VI. Two members of the band entered the Baton Twirling Festival in Alexandria, which had 22 states in competition, and Lina Trent placed with ratings in her division. Becky Boyer also twirled at this event. Both girls are entering the Baton Festival in Bristol in April, competing against a number of states. The band won recognition in the District I and III Band Festival in Richmond March 15, at which time 4 students played solos and received very high ratings, two of whom received excellent ratings. The band received the following invitations, but due to lack of uniforms could not accept: to play for the U. Va. - Clemson football game in Charlottesville, to play for the VMI - Citadel game in Lynchburg, Boy Scout Parade in Farmville, 5-County Fair in Farmville, and the Southeastern Band Festival held in Bristol. Miss Joyce Wingfield is the band director.

Catherine Richardson won the 4-H talent "Share the Fun" contest in Mrs. Lawrence's 4-H Club and received a blue ribbon at the county finals.

The S. C. A. made a school survey of the student body as to the number of Salk Vaccine shots each student had received. After this survey, plans were made for those students who had not received three shots to get them from the Health Center. This project carried out the principle of health. Mrs. Gladys McClenny is the SCA sponsor.

SPRING LIVESTOCK OUTLOOK IS GIVEN BY VPI ECONOMISTS

A down-trend in beef consumption is likely to continue the rest of this year, accompanying an expected 1% drop in production, according to the spring-time predictions of VPI economists.

On the other hand, pork production will increase. While smaller beef supplies will help the pork picture, lower retail prices likely will be necessary to encourage consumers to step up pork purchases. Lamb supplies will not be much different this year, but may carry slightly higher price tabs.

In capsule form, here are other livestock predictions:

Not as much decrease in 1958 cattle inventories as some anticipate; no appreciable change in number of cattle fed; larger calf crop in prospect; feeder cattle outlook promising, but watch discounts for "heavier" cattle and possible heavy run of fed cattle this spring; slaughter cattle prices to remain steady.

Improved pasture conditions, and a record feed crop, have resulted in farmers holding back more breeding stock and bidding higher for stock to build up their herds.

Hog producers may be at the top of a price "rollercoaster," with a bad dip late this year a possibility. The dip won't likely be as severe as in 1955 however. The market for fat hogs has melted.

Sheepmen are in for another good time, with little changes in price, and slight change in production possible.
